b. Executive Vice President Jonathan

i. FTSBTS

There will be changes in this semester's FTSBTS. In the past, there were no solutions when each conflict arose from a student directly to a Pace department. SGA will now be combining the third org council and the second session of FTSBTS. FTSBTS will now have a "problem solving hour." Surveys were also created in order to increase the amount of student concerns. FTSBTS starts tonight at 6:00pm in the Student Union.

c. Executive Secretary Amanda

i. Volunteering Partnership with CCAR

SGA Volunteer project is now going on. Amanda needs help with designing boxes to distribute in each resident hall, etc. Reach out to Amanda, am31815n@pace.edu, for more information.

III. Old Business

a. Dyson- WSJ

"Discusses the spring implementation of the Wall Street Journal. Sent out survey and received 400 responses in favor of the newspaper. There will be 400 copies a day for the spring semester, similar to New York Times. The price for the Wall Street Journal is 34 percent less than New York Times. Professor Weinstock is the faculty advisor in charge upon the Dyson President and Vice President graduating "creating a legacy." Unsure on who will be distributing the newspapers to the locations daily.

Senate member, Ryan Barone, makes a motion to establish a pilot program for the implementation of the Wall Street Journal as of spring 2015- friendly amendment by Senate Member, Connor Byrnes, to table this motion to next week's meeting due to misinformation/unclear on the distribution of the WSJ newspapers. ”

This week:

Senate member, Ryan Barone, has come back with a response to last week's friendly amendment. Ryan has confirmed that the Wall Street Journal distribution deliverers will physically place the newspapers into the appropriate racks daily.

- Ryan makes a motion to establish a pilot program for the implementation of 400 Wall Street Journal's daily, as of spring 2015 upon a new census after the spring term, along with the new confirmed information that the distributors will deliver and place the newspapers accordingly. - All In favor
